Dear Susan,
I'm in Oman visiting Siham, an Omani friend of mine I met through the ITC.

Oman is a really beautiful country with lots to do and see. There are mountains, beaches and wadis.

I liked the beautiful green oasis where the most fabulous trees are grown for their delicious pomegranates. We went with Siham to visit her uncle's farm in Nizwa where he grows dates. It was fantastic! I'll bring some back for you to try.

Hi Najma,
This journey has been a disaster from start to finish. We arrived here a day late because the plane had engine trouble. Then the hotel didn't have our reservation, so we spent a night sleeping in the hotel's reception area. Our first meal tasted terrible!

Can't wait to get back home.

A. Mass Tourism

Mass tourism is where large numbers of people usually travel or go on holiday. Usually, large tour companies sell cheap holidays to popular destinations where people stay in large hotels and resorts to relax and enjoy themselves. The tour company makes all the bookings and arrangements for the holiday. All you have to do is pay the money and collect your ticket.

B. High-Quality Tourism

High-quality tourism is the opposite of mass tourism. Here, small groups of people go on expensive holidays and stay in the best hotels in the world. They pay more for better services, travel in the most comfortable seats on planes, and stay in the best rooms on boats and in hotels.

C. Exploring Tourism

Exploring tourism is where individuals decide to go on holidays on their own or with a friend. Sometimes these people are called backpackers because they carry everything they need for their holiday in a bag which they carry on their backs. Many students like travelling this way because they can make their own plans on where to go, what to do, and where to stay. Also, many backpackers try to travel cheaply.

D. Alternative Tourism

Alternative tourism includes eco-tourism, cultural tourism, and historical tourism. Eco-tourism is where people travel to see animals in the rainforests, go birdwatching, or go diving in coral reefs. Cultural tourism is where people travel to see how other people live, their customs, and see how their arts and crafts are made. Historical tourism is where people go to see old buildings and museums.

Focus Questions

Which type of tourism do people learn more about the natural world?

Name the type of tourism which offers the best seats on a plane.

Which type of tourism do many students like?

Which type of tourism do lots of people go on?

What I want as a tourist is peace and quiet wherever I go. It doesn't matter where I am; the main thing I want is to relax. I don't like the busy, expensive hotels where everyone goes to stay. The noise and the crowds are too much for me. As long as there is a nice, shady tree where I can sit and read a book, I'm happy!

I live in the interior, so when I have a break, I like going to a city. As a tourist in a city, I like visiting nice restaurants where I can sit and eat nice food. Wherever I go has to have lots of shops and commercial centres, so I can spend the money I've saved. I also like visiting museums, theatres, and the cinema where I like catching up on the latest arts and culture. Yes, I like keeping busy in my holidays.

As a tourist, I like staying in a hotel where there is a swimming pool, tennis courts, and a gym to keep my family busy. The hotel has to have a good restaurant where they serve cheap and tasty food. I want to stay in a hotel where there are polite and helpful people. Wherever the hotel is, it should be beautiful and have views of the sea, the countryside, or the mountains.

I like going where I can see culture and traditional life. I want to be able to see, feel, and meet the way people live wherever I am. I don't like staying in the big hotels that you can find in the country you live in. That's why I like small guest houses. For me, it's important that I can visit markets where I can go shopping in the same place as local people. I also like places where I can see traditional dances or go to local festivals.
