One day, I was walking in the park with my friend when I found a bag full of money. Then, my friend asked me to open the bag. We found a lot of money and a golden necklace. My friend was so excited and suggested taking the money for him and me. He told me that we would be rich if we took that money but I didn't agree and told him to call the police.

After that, we called the police and informed about the matter. When the policemen arrived, they started to check the bag. They found some papers for a company. This company had reported about the bag before. The company reported that a thief had stolen a bag from the office of the company. The policemen started investigations and they could know the thief.
